

Useful websites

The British Film Institute (BFI) provides a range of resources for using film and television in the classroom, including:

- Look Again! A Guide to Using Film and Television the Classroom
- Starting Stories, (1 and 2) teaching guide and DVD, Key Stage 1
- Story Shorts (1 and 2) Teaching guide and DVD, Key Stage 2
- Show us a Story: feature films, teaching guide and DVD and a range of documentary film for use in other areas of the curriculum. For the full range, visit www.bfi.org.uk/education/teaching/primary.html

Learning and Teaching Scotland have materials from their project 'Moving Image Education' www.admc.tv/mie.html

The British Museum website:
www.thebritishmuseum.ac.uk/education/index.html

BBC film website www.bbc.co.uk/films. Useful for current films, interviews and links to 'official' movie websites.

BBC Learningzone <http://www.bbc.co.uk/learningzone/clips>

BAFTA www.bafta.org UK's leading organisation promoting and rewarding the best in film, television and interactive media.

Communication4All www.communication4all.co.uk A selection of interactive resources.

Espresso website: www.espresso.co.uk

Film Education offer free resources to support teaching with recent cinema releases. For the full range, visit www.filmeducation.org/resources.html

Film Street, www.filmstreet.co.uk A free arts education website for schools relating to film and the moving image.

Into the Book focuses on eight reading comprehension behaviours with suggested strategies for each one <http://reading.ecb.org>

Moviemap www.visitbritain.com/moviemap Part of the British tourist authority, this site provides information on various film locations in Britain.

TV ARK www.tv-ark.org.uk an online TV museum showing title sequences, adverts, public information broadcasts etc.

Webeden www.webeden.co.uk a free website builder showing you how to set up a website.